"When Hollywood vehicle engineer, Allan Padelford needed close up, high-speed, race car action for the 1990 hit movie, Days of Thunder, he turned to Goki Manufacturing Group, to build and configure the tools he would need to get that amazing camera car auto-racing footage. This was the first time that a camera car was driving at high speeds embedded in the race in order to capture the thrills through what was the cutting edge of cinematography at its inception," stated Larry Hirsch, Goki Manufacturing Group, Inc. CEO/President and Founder.

Allan Padelford and his world famous Camera Cars continue to amaze audiences with his innovations and camera shot experiences as seen in hit movies including; Moneyball, Fast and Furious, Star Trek, The Hangover and The Soloist.
